

PIVOT WITH POWER FOUNDING COHORT

Pivot Readiness Clarity Worksheet

Before we go deeper, let's get clear on where you are right now. Answer every question honestly. There are no wrong answers here, only your truth. This worksheet covers the first three letters of the PIVOT framework: P for Permission, I for Identity, and V for Vision.

Name: _____ Date: _____

P Permission

Permission is Step 0. Before anything else changes, you have to decide that you are allowed to want more, be more, and do things differently.

Rate Yourself:

I give myself permission to want a different kind of success than what I was trained for.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I believe I am allowed to pivot without having every step figured out first.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I have released the need for everyone in my life to understand or approve of my pivot.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I no longer put my life on hold while I wait for the right moment to begin.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

P Section Score: _____ / 12

Reflection Questions:

1. What have you been waiting for permission to do? Name it here.

2. Who did you believe you needed permission from, and what would you say to that person or belief today?

Complete this sentence:

I give myself permission to _____ even if _____.

Yes or No Checklist:

- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have identified at least one area of my life where I have been playing small.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have written or spoken my permission sentence out loud.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have told at least one person about the pivot I am making.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I am willing to release outcomes I cannot control in order to move forward.

I Identity

Identity is the foundation of everything. Before you can position yourself, you need to know who you are outside of your job title, your degrees, and other people's expectations.

Rate Yourself:

I can describe who I am and what I stand for beyond my job title or credentials.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I have a clear sense of the values that guide my decisions, even under pressure.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I recognize and own my nonlinear path as a strength, not a liability.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I know what makes me distinctly qualified for the next level I am pursuing.

☐ Not Yet	☐ In Progress	☐ Activated
-------------------------------	-----------------------------------	---------------------------------

I Section Score: _____ / 12

Reflection Questions:

1. Describe who you are in three sentences. Not what you do. Who you ARE.

2. What part of your identity have you been hiding or minimizing in professional spaces? Why?

Complete this sentence:

I am no longer willing to be seen only as _____. The truth is, I am _____.

Yes or No Checklist:

- ☐ Yes ☐ No I can name three core values that I refuse to compromise, even for career advancement.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have identified at least one way my nonlinear path gives me a unique advantage.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I know the difference between who I was trained to be and who I actually am.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I am ready to lead from my full identity, not just the parts that feel safe.

V Vision

Vision is not a wish. It is a decision. This section asks you to get specific, present-tense, and unapologetic about what your next level actually looks like.

Rate Yourself:

I have a specific, clear picture of what my next level looks like.

☐ Not Yet

☐ In Progress

☐ Activated

I can describe my vision in present tense, as if it is already real.

☐ Not Yet

☐ In Progress

☐ Activated

My vision is grounded in my own values and gifts, not what I think I should want.

☐ Not Yet

☐ In Progress

☐ Activated

I am willing to pursue this vision even when the path is not fully mapped out.

☐ Not Yet

☐ In Progress

☐ Activated

V Section Score: _____ / 12

Complete this sentence:

In 12 months, I will be known as the woman who _____. I will feel _____ and I will have _____.

Yes or No Checklist:

- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have written my vision statement in present tense at least once.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have said my vision out loud to at least one other person.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No I have identified the specific feeling I am moving toward, not just the outcome.
- ☐ Yes ☐ No My vision stretches me and also feels like mine.

Reflection Questions:

1. Describe your next level in present tense. What does your life look like? What have you built or become? How do you feel?

2. What is the boldest version of your vision, the one you have not said out loud yet because it feels too big? Write it here.
